

RETIREMENT OF EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ANTO RAUKAS

The Editor-in-Chief of Oil Shale, Academician Anto Raukas, has retired.

We start to miss his competence and wide knowledge of next to anything, his devotion and contribution to Estonian geology and oil shale research deserve appreciation. Worth mentioning are his skill in the use of words and subtle sense of humour, but also courage to have a say in matters that touch many.

Being one of the founders of Oil Shale, under Anto Raukas' wise leadership this unique quarterly has developed into a significant publication in the field.

We thank our long-time Editor-in-Chief Anto Raukas for his great work with Oil Shale, and wish him every success in anything he may undertake in the years to come. We hope our contributors and readers join us.

Oil Shale